

JAP SQUADRONS TO SHELL TWO RUSSIAN FORTRESSES AT ONCE

One Strong Division, Including Ten Cruisers and Six Torpedo Boats, Appears at Port Arthur, While Another Is Reported Be at Vladivostok.

This New Danger to the Russian Ships That Have Recently Been So Active in Sinking Japanese Vessels Causes Grave Anxiety at St. Petersburg.

LONDON, April 29.—The action of Russia's Vladivostok squadron in sinking a Japanese transport with 200 men on board has evidently stirred the Japs up to fresh naval activity.

Official despatches from Admiral Alexieff to St. Petersburg to-day announce that Japanese warships were sighted six miles off Port Arthur last night, and that this morning ten Japanese cruisers and six torpedo boats were seen in an adjacent bay.

At the same time a Japanese squadron was sighted off Vladivostok, indicating that the Japanese fleet has been divided in the following out of some new plan of action.

CHASING VLADIVOSTOK FLEET.

Experts here agree that the squadron off Vladivostok is the one which has been chasing the Russians ever since they discovered that they were out of Vladivostok. It was one of this fleet's wireless messages which is said to have first warned the Russians that the Japs were after them, and it was while fleeing from it that the Russians came up with the Japanese transport which they sank with such large loss of life.

With a Japanese squadron before Vladivostok it is not believed that the Russians will leave the protection of the harbor again. There is little chance of a fight unless the Russians should be reinforced. The object of the Japs in manœuvring about Vladivostok is believed to be to prevent any more sallies by the Russians in the zone of Japanese transport activity.

NEW MOVE CAUSES ANXIETY.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 29.—Viceroy Alexieff's report that a Japanese squadron was off Port Arthur, followed by another announcing that a squadron of Japanese ships was in sight of Vladivostok, aroused anxiety. Naval circles are speculating whether the enemy will venture to approach Vladivostok at closer range than last time.

There are persistent rumors of fighting on the Yalu River, but the Associated Press correspondent is informed that no serious engagements have taken place and that the fighting has been limited to affairs of outpost, the Russians contesting and harassing the Japanese advance.

RUSSIANS REPULSED ON BANKS OF THE YALU

SHANGHAI, April 29, 2 P. M.—It is reported here that the Russians have suffered a disastrous repulse after two days' fighting on the Yalu River. The Japanese forces crossed the river, and the Russians retreated. ONLY 73 JAPS LOST ON TRANSPORT.

TOKIO, April 29, 6 P. M.—Seventy-three Japanese were killed or drowned as a result of the sinking of the Japanese transport Kinshu Maru, which was torpedoed by the Russian armored cruiser Rossia at midnight Monday last.

The Kinshu Maru parted from the convoy of torpedo boats in a fog on Monday and at 11.30 P. M. met the Russian fleet. She was ordered to stop and the Rossia steamed alongside, summoned her navigating officer on board the Rossia and sent a searching party on board the transport. This party discovered two companies of soldiers concealed below and reported the fact to the Rossia. The latter discharged a torpedo, which struck the Kinshu Maru amidships and broke her in two.

While the transport was sinking the soldiers on board of her rushed on deck and fired volleys from their rifles into the Rossia, and as the Kinshu Maru sank several of the soldiers committed suicide.

Three boats which floated free from the wreckage were the means of saving forty-five soldiers and nine of the Kinshu Maru's passengers and crew.

Two captains and three lieutenants were among the soldiers drowned. The survivors succeeded in getting ashore and were conveyed by steamer to Gensea to-day.

BATTING ORDER.

New York. Brown, cf. McGinn, 1b. Mertes, lf. Dahlen, ss. Gilbert, 2b. Ames, c. Timmerman, p. Boston. Grier, cf. Conner, 1b. Cooney, lf. DeLoach, ss. Raymer, 2b. Moran, c. Willis, p. Timmerman, p.

(Special to The Evening World.) POLO GROUNDS, April 29.—On a wet and soggy diamond the Giants and the Beaneaters finally came together this afternoon after two postponements. The games were thrown open as usual at 2.30, and a few of the faithful were on hand waiting a chance to separate themselves from some of their loose change and get a peek at the contestants.

In picking out a battery McGraw was up against a hard problem. He wanted to go with Joe McGinnity, but the Iron Man doesn't like to bat on a wet ball, and it was doubtful if the grounds were dry enough to keep the little horse hide sphere from moisture. Mac had "Red" Ames and southpaw Willis and Millikan to select from in case the Iron Man could not do the job. Manager DeLoach was also uncertain about the selection of a battery. He wanted to use the elongated Vic Willis, but Willis hasn't a good record as a mud horse and Southpaw Carney was Buck's second choice.

The Boston batting order was given a special shaping up for the attack on the Giants, who have been leading off all the season, was dropped down to fourth position, and Tenney, who has been the second at bat, took a tumble down six stories. Cannell was retained in third place. Cooley was moved up to second from fourth and Raymer given Geier's honor at top of the heap instead of batting down next to the catcher. It was a great promotion for the young second baseman and he played victoriously when the honor was conferred upon him by his boss.

First Inning. Geier hit one over second for a base, but was caught trying to stretch it into a home run. Tenney sent an easy fly to Mertes. Cannell put up an easy out for Warner. NO RUNS.

Brown bunted safely, and made third on DeLoach's yellow throw past first. Devin dropped a single in left center and Brown's stolen home. McGraw beat out a neat bunt. Mertes also bunted, but this put went for a base. Devin's error on the bunt made a fatal mistake at third good pitch. Dahlen's lofty soarer was gathered in by Cooley. ONE RUN.

Second Inning. Gilbert and McGinnity and Cooley. Gilbert unintentionally dropped one in front of the plate and was tagged out by Warner. DeLoach was retired. Raymer succumbed to McGinnity's mystic shots. NO RUNS.

Gilbert let three good ones go by and McGinnity sent a grounder to Raymer. McGinnity sent a hot grounder to Raymer, who tried to purloin a pack. ONE RUN.

Brown was fooled by Willis's deceptive drops. Devin sent a grounder to McGinnity on a puny rap. NO RUNS.

Fourth Inning. Cannell beat out a slow one to Dahlen. He was sent out, stealing second on Warner's splendid throw. Cooley soared one into McGinnity's hands. The new fellow who caught Dahlen's hard drive. NO RUNS.

Geier squeezed Mertes's short soarer. McGinnity was hit by a pitched ball and took his base. Dahlen died on a bouncer to Batty. Gilbert was again a victim of McGinnity. NO RUNS.

Fifth Inning. DeLoach pushed a single past McGinnity. Devin pulled down Raymer's high foul. Moran got a life on Dahlen's tumble. A great atout and throw by Gilbert retired Willis at first. Geier sent a fly to Mertes. NO RUNS.

FIFTH RACE—Martha Gorman (12 to 1) 1, Sufferance (13 to 5) 2, Pink Garter 3.

(Special to The Evening World.) RACE TRACK, JAMAICA, N. Y., April 29.—The weather was a bit more pleasant at Jamaica this afternoon and the conditions were bearable.

There was little change in the track. The mud was stiffer and more holding and there were many scratches in consequence.

Workman's Runaway Race. Workman, the favorite, in the opening event, jumped away in front and made a runaway race of it. Andvair and Revel chased him to the stretch turn, where Tramator moved into second place. When they straightened for home Workman drew out and won easily by four lengths from First Born, who saved a lot of good ground at the head of the stretch and beat Delaval half a length for the place.

Alforten, Favorite, Away Badly. Alforten was a strong favorite in the second race for some reason, but Jacquin carried a bunch of smart money. Alforten was away badly, while Jacquin jumped off in front with Oriskany. Andrew Mack joined this trio, and they raced head and head to the turn, where Oriskany dropped out of the race. Andrew Mack and Jacquin turned into the stretch together, but in the run home Jacquin outgamed Andrew Mack, and drew away, winning easily by a length and a half. Andrew Mack was four lengths in front of Alforten.

De Reszke Takes Third. De Reszke, who has not been able to raise a yellow in his races heretofore, suddenly came to life in the third and showed an amazing lot of speed. He jumped away in front, uncannied all the way and won cleverly by a length and a half. Go Between took second place soon after the start and stayed there, getting the place by fifteen lengths from Nine Spot. Keynote, the favorite, had no speed.

Monet Won Easily. Monet, the favorite in the fourth, rushed away in front, but he was outrun by the Musketeer, who set the pace to the far turn followed by De Reszke. The others heads apart laid two lengths away. Near the stretch turn Monet shot into the lead and won easily by two lengths from Jack Ratlin, who finished strong and beat the tiring Musketeer a head for the place.

12 to 1 Chance Lands Fifth. Martha Gorman, a 12 to 1 chance, jumped away in front in the fifth race, made all the running and won cleverly by two lengths from Sufferance, who was second all the way. Pink Garter outran all the way, was four lengths away in third place.

Dr. W. E. Woodend, whose brokerage business, with branches all over the country, was put into involuntary bankruptcy to-day, could not be found by Policemen: 1 Katz, of the Centre Street Court, at the Woodend mansion, No. 58 West Seventy-first street, when Katz went to arrest him on a warrant charging grand larceny, this afternoon.

The Evening World is in possession of information showing that Dr. Woodend left his home at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, eluded two Pinkerton detectives who were trailing him, made his way to the Fort Lee Ferry and took a trolley car that may have landed him anywhere from Weehawken to Jersey City.

Despite the fact that Dr. Woodend made his escape yesterday morning, three was a conference at his house last night in which his attorney, J. H. Warner, of Warner, Johnson & Galston, of No. 49 Wall street, participated, and at which it was supposed Woodend was present. When Mr. Warner left the house he found Edwin H. Goodwyn, of Petersburg, Va., who accuses Woodend of stealing $10,500 from him; Assistant District Attorney Krotel and a Central Office detective waiting on the sidewalk with the design of arresting Woodend should he appear.

SERVANTS WERE HILARIOUS.

Private detectives were on guard at the house all night and all day to-day up to the time Policeman Katz discovered that the doctor-broker was not there. The efforts of Katz to discover Dr. Woodend were greeted with hilarity by the Woodend servants, who knew their employer was safe from arrest.

The Evening World has learned that Woodend left his home at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and walked to the corner of Seventy-second street and Columbus avenue. He was trailed by two private detectives, who had been hired by a creditor to watch him. Upon reaching the corner he jumped into a hansom cab at the public stand and ordered the driver to get him away in a hurry.

The cabman drove east through Seventy-second street and the detectives jumped into another hansom and followed. Through a mysterious code
